Strategic planning for EPR compliance

The EPR Solutions Package

Navigating New and Confusing Regulations

Like many companies, yours may be struggling to keep up with and understand the rapidly evolving extended producer responsibility (EPR) requirements.

Our team at EPR Group is here to demystify and simplify the compliance process for you. Our EPR Solutions Package is tailored to identify your company's immediate obligations as well as navigate future opportunities and risks.

Our EPR Solutions Package

Five key deliverables for your company's EPR compliance.

Producer & Packaging Evaluation (PPE)

Our signature product, the PPE, provides producers with essential clarity about which packaging and other covered materials they are responsible for in each state, allowing for accurate and targeted data input into any analytical system. With the PPE, you ensure that critical institutional knowledge about your company's obligations is readily available over time and across multiple departments.

Producer Obligation Matrix (POM) and POM Report

Building off the PPE, the POM graphically identifies your company's obligation or non-obligation per material group per sales pathway per state within your company's portfolio. The POM Report includes links to state covered materials lists, CAA guidance for reporting data, and instructions on how to use the POM to report supply data.

Initial Compliance Plan

The Initial Compliance Plan will serve as a brief preliminary reference source for a quick review of program planning requirements. The Plan should be supplemented and modified as other deadline requirements become more imminent.

Timeline for Compliance Deadlines

To help you track registration and reporting deadlines, the Timeline identifies both the PRO requirements for compliance and statutory and regulatory timelines for all the state programs.

Fee Optimization Roadmap

The Fee Optimization Roadmap provides tips for fee optimization strategies. You can select a packaging component of your choice as a case study for discussion of potentially applicable eco-modulated fee factors, the different approaches to fee factors among different states, and the possible documentation that may be required to claim credit or avoid a malus fee. Even with significant uncertainty about eco-modulated fee rate schedules, as it turns out, there are still meaningful things you can do now to minimize fees and/or plan for optimization when fee factors are implemented.

EPR is evolving. So are we. We offer a semi-annual review and update of your EPR Solutions Package for a fixed fee. If you choose to sign up for the semi-annual review service, your first update will be complimentary.
